Join us on a time-traveling adventure to Ancient Egypt! A class of unsuspecting students are in for a wild adventure when they are mysteriously transported to the banks of the Nile. Along with their (perhaps overenthusiastic) teacher, they'll come face to face with talking cats, skeptical Greek philosophers, and the Great Pyramid itself. But there's trouble in the air! The Sphinx's nose keeps disappearing, and Pharaoh's had it with his bewildered Egyptian artisans. With time running out, can they work together to solve The Secret of the Sphinx? Designed for students at all levels of theatre experience, campers will audition, rehearse, and perform a musical alongside three professional teaching artists...in one week!

The Secret of the Sphinx is a brand new production with a script by Katie Colletta and original music by Jason Sifford

About Footliters Traveling Playhouse:

Footliters Traveling Playhouse is a new touring program of Young Footliters Youth Theatre from Coralville. Together with master teaching artists, we're creating engaging theatre experiences for students across Iowa. Our week-long camps are open to students of all backgrounds, experience levels, and training. Footliters Traveling Playhouse is committed to "engaging and empowering students through an immersive, inclusive theatre experience." We put our students first and collaborate with parents and communities to make our theatre a safe and exciting space for all.
